Alternatives to anti-Māori themes in news media na te mea hobi he tokomaha ke nga tangate

Theme 2 'One people'

Wikitoria le dium o

In this negative theme, 'New Zealanders' are described as a single people who should all be treated the same. This is usually a response to attempts by Maori for recognition as tangata whenua.

How this is being said in the news

Kiwi, New Zealander, one people, equal treatment, we are all the same; no one group should have preference, we are a multicultural society, we are all immigrants.

Examples

i hei kai hoko mona.

- 'Maori have a special place in New Zealand, but that specialness should not be allowed to undermine the sanctity of the simple equality of all New Zealanders living together.' P. Goldsmith, NZ Herald column, April 2009.
- 'The justification for the Maori seats is now gone. It is a move that will signify one country, one people'. Timaru Herald editorial, Feb 7, 2003.
- 'Beaches for all'. Otago Daily Times front page headline, Aug 19, 2003.

What does this assume?

- Equality means treating everyone the same.
- Cultural or racial differences are divisive, not real, or do not matter.
- Indigenous status and the Treaty are irrelevant.
- Majority rule is the only fair and just way to make decisions.

What does this do?

- Supports Pākehā (ie. majority) control of most important decisions.
- Tells Māori that they should assimilate.
- Removes ethnicity from the discussion as irrelevant.
- Undermines the Treaty.

Other ways to talk about this

- Acknowledge the place of tangata whenua and the Treaty relationship.
- Given the imbalances arising from colonisation, we may need to treat people differently to get more equal outcomes. This is provided for in New Zealand law anyway, for a range of different groups who are historically disadvantaged.
- · Pākehā are one cultural group among many.
